

Job Posting #5: Sourcing/Supply Chain Manager

Vanguard is an entirely new and distinct motorcycle brand, designed, engineered and built in New York City. With an advanced take on design and a unique approach to engineering, manufacturing and sales, Vanguard's vision is to redefine the premium motorcycle.

We are currently seeking sharp, motivated individuals to join a tight-knit engineering team in designing and producing motorcycles unlike any other.

Sourcing/Supply Chain Manager

Role:

- Responsible for the development of procurement strategies, for a cost-effective and timely delivery of products that meet technical and quality requirements.
- Work closely with the design and engineering group to understand technical, quality and cost requirements, and develop sourcing strategies detailed into actionable sourcing plans
- Identify, qualify and develop a list of vendors capable of meeting expectations in terms of cost, quality, delivery time and communication. Propose strategies to improve cost and quality.
- Negotiate prices, establish contracts and drive BOM cost down.
- The sourcing manager will be part of a cross-functional team reporting to the Project Manager.

Qualifications:

- Engineering background preferred
- Practical experience in the power sports, automotive, or aerospace industries preferred
- Experience in worldwide sourcing and supply chain, including Asia, required
- The ideal candidate is pragmatic, meticulous, and has a passion for solving problems.
- Strong verbal and written communication skills. Additional languages preferred.
- Proactive, self-motivated and ability to work independently, happy to work in a fast-paced, exciting startup environment and participate towards office life.

Compensation:

- $80k to $100k base salary
- Bonus target of 5% of base
- Medical benefits

Position:

Full-time in our New York City facility, located at the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

How to Apply:

Please send resume, cover letter and references to info@vanguard.nyc.